Subject: RE: Good morning Sonja,

Sorry I couldn't get back to you sooner, but I was in court today. As for next week (the 9th through the 13th), I found out earlier this morning that my case in Springfield scheduled for the 13th was moved, so I am available that day (not sure if you'd have the trial actually start on Thursday or Friday). On the days I have Greenfield District Court only (the 9th and the 12th), I could probably make your case as well as theirs, but I would need to know what time you think you'd need me so I could work it out with the ADA in Greenfield. When I get to work tomorrow, I'll email all of the ADAs that I have cases with next week to double check if anything has changed. And, as a heads up, I received an email from a Superior Court ADA in Springfield saying that he has a case coming up that I analyzed the drugs in that is scheduled to occur over the next couple of weeks, possibly as soon as this Thursday. He does think that the defendant will plea, but you can never be sure until it is actually done.

Subject: Good morning Sonja,

Just checking in on next week, I know you are unavailable the 9th thru the 13th, has anything changed? My judge is trying to force me in next week but I already told him you were NOT available all week, if that is still the case ok, let me know.
